Dr. Christopher Kilmartin

Dr. Kilmartin is a Professor of Psychology at the University of Mary Washington. He holds a Ph.D. in Counseling Psychology from Virginia Commonwealth University and is a licensed clinical psychologist. He has served as a consultant to businesses, college students, human service workers, and counselors.

His major scholarly work is The Masculine Self (second edition, McGraw-Hill, 2000). Together with co-author John Lynch, he wrote The Pain behind the Mask: Overcoming Masculine Depression (Haworth, 1999). Sexual Assault in Context: Teaching College Men about Gender (2005, Erlbaum) is his latest book. Drawing on his background as a professional stand-up comedian, Dr. Kilmartin wrote a solo theatre performance on men's issues entitled Crimes Against Nature. This work, an integration of his scholarly and performing interests, and performed by the author, debuted in March, 1998 and toured to over 200 campuses and other venues before he retired the performance in 2004. He is currently working on a solo performance entitled Guy Fi: The Fictions that Rule Men's Lives, set to debut in late 2005.

Dr. Kilmartin participated as a consultant in the U.S. Department of Education's 2001 Meeting on Violence Prevention in Higher Education and he is nationally-recognized expert on the prevention of sexual assault and sexual harassment on college campuses.
