Grant Project Description

The Northwestern Regional Adult Detention Center Offenders Reentry Transitional Program (ORTP) uses a validated Risk/Needs Assessment to identify medium to high-risk offenders in need of pre-release and reentry services. The program aims to enhance public safety, reduce recidivism and facilitate the successful reentry of offenders from Frederick, Clarke, and Fauquier Counties; and the City of Winchester. To increase the likelihood of successful outcomes, evidence-based treatment modalities, education, vocational services, and targeted case management are utilized.

Project Performance to Date (if Continuation)

In service of the PAPIS grant, our primary objective remains to enhance public safety while facilitating offender reentry services in a way that targets a reduction in overall recidivism.

Grant Project Description

OAR's Reentry Services Program journeys with individuals returning to Arlington County and the Cities of Arlington and Falls Church from incarceration. We begin working with many before they leave the correctional facility and provide wrap-around reentry services after release. These services have become even more of a lifeline for participants as they navigate the challenges of reentry into an ongoing economic recession. Our goal is to support participants as they create a safe reentry for themselves -- a reentry where they not only avoid recidivism but also thrive in the community. We emphasize addressing the needs of those assessed as medium to high risk of reengaging with the criminal legal system.

Project Performance to Date (if Continuation)

We seek renewal of our PAPIS grant for OAR's Reentry Services Program at a funding level of $243,117 as authorized by DCJS's grant guidance document.

Grant Project Description

This project will provide many types of transitional services to adult offenders to include substance abuse/mental health referrals to in-house and community counselors, anger management, local medical care information, vocational classes, education classes and prior to their release from Northern Neck Regional Jail. Within the last year, we have created a program tract just for woman. Follow up contacts are attempted upon release. The programs goals is to provide services to a person who is being released from jail into the community who has been assessed as medium to high risk. Some example of services offered are release plan, housing, obtaining ID's, employment and Medicaid registration.

Project Performance to Date (if Continuation)

The Northern Neck Reentry Program will perform the required duties per the grant guidelines and all program accomplishments will be reported within the quarterly reports.
